Yesterday's game between the Washingten and Baltimore clubs, at the local American Park was a rocky exhibition from start to finish, and the only pleasure derived from the contest was that the local

There is no gainsaying the fact that the new-made ground around the bases is simply filled with small holes and is spongy. Groundkeeper Miller is constantly at work endeavoring to harden up the surface, but it will take some time before it will be in shape for first-class play. The base runners cut deep furrows in the ground with their toes and spikes, and, after an inning or two the base lines took like a plowed field. The same condition troubles the outfielders in stopping grounders and in going new parks, and the local "fans" will doubtless appreciate the fact that Manager Manning has worked wonders under the most trying circumstances. That nearly all the teams, five misplays being charged up to come their way made misplays clearly de-monstrates that it was not a case of the players having an "off day." They simply couldn't judge the bound of the ball accurubber for the Baltimores at the start off, but his support was weak and in addition the Senators found his curves at opportune times. He also worked in four bases on balls, which were fatal to his chances of winning. In the fourth inning Left-hander Nops relieved Bresnehan, but after sending three men to bases on balls in quick sucappearance being greeted with applause. Schmidt pitched clever ball at times, his bases on balls being responsible for the two runs scored while he was on the rubber. The Senators hit his pitching hard, but the balls went into the air and resulted to first on balls, the record assumes gigantic proportions. The eleven hits placed to the credit of the Baitimoreans were scattered through seven innings, not more than two coming together at one time. This accounts for the downfall of the Orioles, as the drives of Foutz, Donlin and Bresnahan where something fierce, but were made at which was a right in the pit of the stomach. Terry sent in left uppercut to chin. Gardner went down from right and left and took the count. He got up, only to go down again from left in stomach. GAME DECLARED FORFEITED.

Pitcher for University of Maryland Team Ordered From the Field. An interesting game was played on the Georgetown campus yesterday afternoon between the blue and gray and University of Maryland teams, the score being tied-7 to 7-in the ninth irging, when Umpire Betts gave the contest to the local collegians by the score of 9 to 0. Pitcher Eurns was the cause of the forfeiture. He carried himself with a high hand throughout the game, and in the eighth inning, when Umpire Betts declared a ball batted into right field fair, which Burns thought was foul, he threw his hat and glove on the ground and commenced abusafter flies. These faults are all common to ing the holder of the indicator. Mr. Betts ordered Burns from the field, and upon his refusal to go gave the game to Georgetown by the score of 9 to 0.

each. McKay began pitching for George-town, but in the eighth he went to pieces and Fay was called upon to relieve him, the visitors getting three runs and the lead before they were retired. Until this inning McKay had pitched clever ball. The victory of the opening day, of course, stimulated the local interest, and as a result fully 6,000 persons were present yesterday. As the Orioles got away first with two turks groams could be heard on all sides, but as the Senators pulled up even the gloom was dispelled and good humor turn, a double and a single to his credit, while the latter had two timely singles. the gloom was dispelled and good humor | Umpire Betts missed a couple of strikes prevailed thereafter. | Wyatt Lee made his debut, and when the errors back of him are considered, the young man did remarkably well. There is no longer any doubt as to what kind of ball the people of Chicago wish to see. They want to look at winners. For the loser they have the chilly mitt and the icy glare; for the winner they have smiles, glad words, and, what counts far more, dollars. It will not take long for Manager McGraw to remedy all these and scientific batting. It will not take long for Manager McGraw to remedy all these defects, and then watch the Birds.
